

KING SAYS THEY ARE LIARS

Convict Under Cross-Examination Persists in Denying Involvement in Other Witness.

Convict King resumed his evidence in his own defense at the Supreme Court this morning. Questioned by H. H. Robertson as to his relations with Mrs. King, witness said they were always friendly. He had no objection to Mrs. King learning to speak English. His son, 15 years old, spoke English. Witness was in the habit of telling Mrs. King his business. His wife had not left him at any time prior to her elopement with Parks.

"Have you your marriage certificate?" Mr. Robertson asked.

"No, I lost it in Regina, when I first got out to the farm. I was not over 1000 in 1907."

"You were in Regina in 1907?"

"Yes, I was in Regina in 1907 and stopped at the Great West Hotel."

"William Oscar Knicker, who is now in Regina."

"You were ever in prison in Germany?"

"Yes. Five days for fighting."

Witness stated that he changed his name to King when he took up his home at Red Deer.

"You ever go by any other name?"

"No."

"You ever go by the name of Smith?"

"No."

"Why was that?"

"Because I could buy horses on time when I was in Regina. I was then called Smith."

"When you signed a signature, A. Smith, witness said he did not sign A. Smith to the bottom of the note, which charges King with fraud, which you signed to the charge as A. Smith?"

"Yes, I signed that. It is not my handwriting."

"You remember a charge brought against you by a man named Jerry of defrauding him of $150?"

"Yes, I pleaded guilty."

"Who signed the note H. Smith?"

"I signed it."

"Was at Mill in August, 1908?"

"Where you at the Arlington Hotel in Mill on 11th of August, 1908, with a man named Herrett?"

"Did you register?"

FINAL OBSTACLE TO BRIDGE GONE

Nothing Now Remains To Stay Immediate Construction of High Level Bridge.

As the result of a conference held this morning at the Provincial Government offices between Premier Brown, representing the cabinet, Mayor Lee and Aldermen Garfield, of Edmonton; Mayor Duggan, of Strathcona; and F. W. Jones, of the C.P.R., and Solicitor Brown, acting for the company, the last obstacle to the immediate commencement of construction on the high-level bridge was removed.

The conference was arranged in order that the C.P.R. could be given complete assurance of the government's estimate of the cost of the bridge, which represents the estimated additional cost of the transport section over the railway bridge alone.

Businesslike interview.

The interview of the conference was characterized by the same businesslike expedition as marked the one last week when the Premier and the Mayor met.

HON. C. R. MITCHELL HEARTILY ENDORSED

He Explains to the Medicine Hat Electors His Reasons for Joining the Union Government and the Issues, Most of Which Were of a Local Nature.

Medicine Hat, June 9.—The Liberal convention at Medicine Hat was most enthusiastic for Hon. C. R. Mitchell, and both citizens and the country people expressed their high regard for the honor that had been done him.

Mr. Mitchell, in acknowledging the nomination, stated that he was just aware of the advantages which lay in his retaining his seat upon the bench, and was equally aware of the difficulties with which he would be surrounded in entering upon a political career. His duty was not before him so plainly, however, by Premier Brown, that he had resigned his judgeship and placed himself in the hands of his old friends in Medicine Hat. He had reasons to believe that when the house met in September the premier would be in a position to make the following sufficient to enable him to sit on the administration without embarrassment, and not be forced to take steps in a direction which he would otherwise wish to avoid. No one more than himself regretted the loss of Hon. C. R. Mitchell, but he was not a member of the cabinet, and he was not a member of the cabinet, and he was not a member of the cabinet.

Long Distance Telephone. The government had only just adopted its telephone policy a year or so ago and the long distance line could not be expected to have reached Medicine Hat yet. However, he had the assurance that the service would be working on it would be doubled this morning, and that the service would be undertaken from both the Medicine Hat and Lethbridge ends simultaneously.

In regard to the government acquiring the existing private lines, Mr. Mitchell stated that all that stood in the way of the transaction being completed was a matter of $1,000, the government valuation having appraised the equipment at $2,000, while the owner's price was $1,500. The line was in poor condition and would need rebuilding. The residents of that district were anxious to have the line, and in the event of the owners not being reasonable it might be necessary for the government to construct a new one. This was not an advisable thing to do, but he could say definitely that a satisfactory service would be installed.

Cabinet Representation. In respect to the new cabinet, he pointed out that it was composed of but four members as compared with the larger former cabinet. The fact was that each unit would occupy a correspondingly stronger position than a member of the old cabinet. Medicine Hat had been unfortunate in having to lose representation in the cabinet, but the opportunity was now returned, and he hoped that the constituency would again occupy its former position in importance.

DELESEPS TO TAKE PART. French Count Has Entered in Montreal Aviation Meet. Montreal, June 9.—While on today received by the Canadian Automobile and Aero club from Count Deleseps, who was the second man to cross the English Channel in a Blériot monoplane. He stated that he would of course pack his machine and ship it to Montreal to take part in the aviation meet here from June 25 to July 4. Deleseps stated that he would enter for the prize both for long distance flight and speed. He means that five Wright biplanes, two Blériot monoplanes, two dirigible balloons and two spherical balloons are now entered for the meet, while the club is now negotiating for the entry of a Canadian and an English biplane.

EDMONTON'S ABSENCE IS COMMENTED UPON

Refusal of Edmonton Board of Trade to send delegates to Associated Trades Convention—Next Convention to be Held in Lethbridge.

Brandon, Man., June 9.—An important step was taken in the evening session of the Associated Boards of Trade by the adoption of a special resolution having for its object the obtaining of better results from the following up of resolutions at the convention.

In a standing vote the members of the convention at Lethbridge, at the death of King Edward and expressed their felicitations to George V. on his accession to the throne.

A resolution from Prince Albert on the subject of telegraph rates was withdrawn after it had been pointed out by C. N. Bell that the case which had been presented to the Railway Commission by the Winnipeg board practically covered the case.

The absence of delegates from Edmonton is causing some comment at this convention on account of the fact that they took in the proceedings of former years.

Lost Treasures Recovered. The choice of a place of meeting for 1911 is to be decided tomorrow and it is almost a certainty that Lethbridge will be selected. The business of the convention will be concluded about noon tomorrow and in the afternoon the delegates will be entertained by an automobile trip by Brandon citizens. A banquet in the evening will wind up the programme.

Lost Documents and Korean Seal Returned to Japanese Government. Vancouver, B.C., June 9.—A communication was caused in Japan, according to that city took in the proceedings of former years.

Britain Exporting Sheep. London, June 9.—A consignment of 2,000 Hampshire Down sheep has just sailed for Chicago. This is the largest consignment of a single breed ever exported from England.

KING ON STAND IN HIS OWN BEHALF

Tells Plausible Story of Movement on Sunday Alleged Murder Was Committed

Cool, collected and careful, making references to reflect before answering the questions put to him by his counsel, Convict King occupied the stand in his own defence during the whole of the session of the supreme court, held yesterday afternoon.

Giving an emphatic denial to every statement in the evidence of the witnesses for the prosecution that might convey even the remotest suggestion of his guilt, he told the story of his life from the time of his arrival in Canada, in 1902, in company with Mrs. Parks, whom he declares to be his lawful wife, to the date of his last arrest.

The prisoner gave an account of his doings on and about the date of the alleged murder which, if true, would render impossible of proof the suggestion that he is the man who was seen by several farmers with a team and outfit closely resembling that of Hindahl, on the road east of Millet, on which the blood stains and the car identified as that of Hindahl was found.

Though identified by the witness Donovan, employed in Plouffe's livery in Leduc, in 1907, as the man who, on the 10th of March of that year, stabled a team and outfit resembling that of Hindahl's, accused denied that he was in Leduc at the time of his ever before seen the witness.

Was Never in States. Though positively identified by T. J. Miller, of Lincoln, Minnesota, as the man who, subsequent to the disappearance of Hindahl, came to Leduc and through a number of the farmers of the county, secured a loan on Hindahl's farm in Minnesota, the accused denied having ever been in the United States having ever before seen the witness Miller, or having ever before seen the papers relating to the mortgage.

He denies having sold Hindahl's team, though the evidence of several witnesses, if true, would be positive that he did, and declares that he never met the man who was seen by whom and to whom the team was sold.

The woman with whom he lived from the date of his arrival in the country until recently, when he left him to marry the man Parks, and whose story is not the least damaging part of the evidence submitted by the prosecution, he declares to be his lawful wife, by marriage, and that he never met the man who was seen by whom and to whom the team was sold.

Hindahl's Disappearance. Accused gave his full details at the time when he is supposed to have left the Clover bar house in company with Hindahl, and to have returned to him, he states that he was in company with Hindahl and with the intention of going with him to Ponoka, they went together to Strathcona in three months and then removed to 22nd street, where he built a shack. They moved to Clover bar in September, 1908, where they lived on a lot of about 20 acres, and half or three miles from the bridge, accused working in Fraser's mine.

H. H. Robertson, who is conductor of the house and the various buildings at Clover bar, which have been referred to in the course of the hearing of the case, using for this purpose a plan drawn and verified by a witness of the same name.

Hindahl Left With Them. In the spring of 1907, continued the accused, a fellow by the name of J. Hindahl lived with them. He came about the middle of February. Hindahl was a cool mixer. There were no others living with them at the time.

Accused stated that he was born in Saxony, Germany, on the 14th of January, 1872. He knew the witness, Mrs. Parks, when in the old country. He met her first in June, 1896, and was married to her in a Protestant church in Germany in January, 1897. He was in Canada in 1902, Mrs. Parks accompanying him as his wife. They landed in Quebec on May 31st. They stayed in Cape Breton for four months, accused working in the mines.

Questioned concerning the statement made by Mrs. Parks to the effect that he had made regular payments to her for board, accused asserted that he had paid her not as a boarder, but as his husband, giving her all the money he received in wages.

He stayed four months in Cape Breton, moving at the end of that time to Winnipeg, still accompanied by the woman, who was referred to by the counsel for the accused during the whole of the subsequent examination as Mrs. King.

At Winnipeg the accused stated that his wife kept house for him, and he asserted that they kept no boarders, and that he had no money to go to the bank, as he had stated when giving his evidence in court.

Gave Woman His Money. In the following spring they moved to Regina, in the neighborhood of which city they stayed all that summer, accused working in the mines named Korman. During the winter of 1903-1904 they lived in the city of Regina, leaving for Lethbridge in the spring of 1904, where they stayed during the summer of that year, accused working in the mines. The woman kept boarders for about three weeks only. He gave the woman all the money he earned.

In October of 1904 they removed to Banff, where they stayed until some time in 1905, when accused took Hindahl in Ponoka at a livery barn at the west end of the town. Hindahl bore the name of the man who had been on a previous occasion left some staff, including a gun, in the care of the proprietor, who was a land guide.

On Saturday, March 26, accused took the train north, arriving in Ponoka before dinner. He had dinner at a lunch counter close to the barn.

With one other that had been since they came to Canada, had died in this country. They moved to Clover bar in September, 1908, where they lived on a lot of about 20 acres, and half or three miles from the bridge, accused working in Fraser's mine.

Hindahl Never Came. Hindahl had said that he would be down there for sure at noon on Saturday.

He did not come, however, and King accused stayed at Ponoka till after dinner on Sunday and then went by train to Strathcona.

At his place for a day or two, when Kellar took the horses away, he gave him $10.00 for looking after the horses.

He took the horses and small stock were sold privately on the market place at the time of the sale of the horses, and accused said he would not let Tynan, but thought it was a bluff.

Asked concerning the statement made by Mrs. King that he had a job hauling lumber and had given the horses into his care, Hindahl denied this emphatically.

When returned to Kellar, he told her that Hindahl was hunting for a job hauling lumber and had given the horses into his care. Hindahl denied this emphatically.

the presence of the French army in South America, and the perplexity increased when accused said that Tynan told him that he had killed a man.

Tynan, said accused, told him that Borden had killed a man who was a minor. He understood from Tynan that this was at the western mine, where the body of the man was found, and several pigs at a farm. He said there was another body there, but he did not see it.

Asked to explain the phrase "biting the grass," accused stated that this was a story of his own free will.

SOUTH AFRICAN SCRIP

Intending Homesteaders and Settlers: Stop! and Look this Over Carefully

You have now the last opportunity of securing some of the finest land in the world at a price that is a mere figure.

There is only one other way of acquiring Government Land and that is by pre-emption. This costs you $3.00 per acre and does not require the homestead regulations and the same as those required under the South African Veteran Bounty Warrant Act, have to be fulfilled.

Why Not Buy Scrip in Preference?

Every settler should buy two scrip NOW and "prove up" on them, and still retain his rights of homesteading and pre-empting. By doing so, he secures 640 acres of land as compared with only 320 acres secured by homesteading and pre-empting.

Do Not Forget that there is Lots of Land and Only a Limited Supply of Scrip

A great many persons are under the impression that scrip is good only till December 31st, 1910.

THIS IS NOT SO, AN EXTENSION OF TIME HAS BEEN GRANTED WHICH MAKES IT GOOD UNTIL DEC. 31st, 1911

The total number of scrips available is now only some 3000 odd. And the present rate of consumption averages 70 per week. You can readily see that at this rate scrip will not last very long and as the supply decreases the price will naturally advance. This fact alone should prove to you that at the present price scrip is the best buying offer whether you use it yourself or not. WHITE OR WIRE
